

Learner's Lunch: Spring 2012 Series

Learner's Lunch: Introduction to Google Sites

Come for this 1 hour, hands-on introduction to one of the most exciting website/wiki software packages available today. Google Sites allows to quickly create and edit websites for projects, classes, or personal use. These websites can be private to just yourself, shared securely with a small group of people, or public to the world! No coding/web-design background is required, and you will have your own website by the end of the session!

2/1 12:00-1:00 Norlin Library, Room E113

Learner's Lunch: Getting More from Google Sites

A follow-up workshop to the previous Learner's Lunch: Introducing Google Sites. Come learn some of the deeper features of Google Sites, including visual customization, gadgets, and page-level permissions. If you have already attended Introduction to Google Sites, or have a basic understanding of Google Sites and are looking for more customization ideas, this will be a great workshop for you!

2/8 12:00-1:00 Norlin Library, Room E113

Learner's Lunch: Introductory Photoshop Overview

Photoshop is the industry leading graphics program designed for editing of images so as to enhance the image's quality while fixing unwanted blemishes. During this presentation you will learn: * The Basic Interface and Layout of Photoshop * How to Open, Close and Save your work * To use Red-eye removal and other enhancement techniques * The use of Layers

2/15 12:00-1:00 Norlin Library, Room E113

Learner's Lunch: Impact, digital scholarship and new web tools

Learn how to keep up with changing digital scholarship requirements, including using new web tools for improving impact, research, and building networks of peers and colleagues? This session will introduce participants to new digital and social media tools that will help with designing research proposals, the literature review, managing data, and dissemination of research findings.

2/22 12:00-1:00 Norlin Library, Room E113

Learner's Lunch: Google+: Not Your Mom's Facebook

Get free, multipoint video conferencing and more with Google's new social network. Come investigate what sets Google+ apart from other social platforms. This workshop will focus on getting started with Google+, finding people, and connecting via Hangouts (free and easy video conferencing). Bring your own laptop, or use the library mobile lab to get started for yourself!

Learner's Lunch: Spring 2012 Series

2/29 12:00-1:00 Norlin Library, Room E113

Learner's Lunch: Digital Storytelling

Looking for ways to increase student engagement? Interested in helping students develop 21st century communication skills? Join us for a workshop that will explore the many uses of digital storytelling in higher education, for both faculty and student projects. Digital storytelling is appropriate for a wide range of courses, but it's particularly well-suited to service learning projects. Workshop will focus mainly on the what's and why's, but we may briefly explore the how's to demonstrate the relative ease of communicating in this new genre.

3/7 12:00-1:00 Norlin Library, Room E113

Learner's Lunch: Endnote

Never type a bibliography again! EndNote Web is free to you, and one of several options available for organizing your citations and creating bibliographies. Come to this session to learn easy ways to get citations into EndNote Web, make bibliographies, and get EndNote Web and Microsoft Word to work together to simplify your life. Contact the presenter individually if you would like a consultation on using the desktop version of EndNote.

3/14 12:00-1:00 Norlin Library, Room E113

Learner's Lunch: Refworks

RefWorks is a web-based tool that allows you to collect, organize and store citations and create bibliographies (in hundreds of different citation styles) in seconds. Campus-wide access to RefWorks is provided by the University Libraries.

3/21 12:00-1:00 Norlin Library, Room E113

Learner's Lunch: Mendeley

Introduction to Mendeley, a new social citation management tool. Easily organize your papers, read & annotate your PDFs, collaborate in private or open groups, and securely access your research from everywhere.

4/4 12:00-1:00 Norlin Library, Room E113

Learner's Lunch: Zotero

Tired of wasting time tediously formatting your works cited page? In this workshop, participants will learn to use Zotero, a free citation management program. Zotero allows users to quickly capture, organize, and cite references to a variety of sources such as journal articles, websites, blogs, and even photos.

Learner's Lunch: Spring 2012 Series

4/11 12:00-1:00 Norlin Library, Room E113

Learner's Lunch: Formatting in Word

Get your papers formatted fast with MS Word! In this workshop, you will learn tips and tricks for quickly formatting your dissertation or thesis. The presenter will demonstrate how to format automatic tables of contents and figures, section page numbers, and landscape pages, as well as demonstrate how to use "Styles" in MS Word. Participants are welcome to bring their documents to work on during the session.

4/18 12:00-1:00 Norlin Library, Room E113